

Mission

Art enhances the life of everyone and by extension, artists enhance the life of the community in which they live.

This studio will continue building on an already vibrant and relevant artist community by providing an open printmaking studio where artists can collaborate, share ideas and share in the burden of equipment costs and studio space.

Art should enhance the lives of people and the process of creating art should not degrade the environment in which people live. D.M. Penny Press will strive to create an environmentally conscious printmaking facility.

About D.M. Penny Press

My name is David Gray. I am an artist and have degrees in Mechanical Engineering and Computer Science. I have been studying printmaking since 2012 at the New Hampshire Institute of Art, and I am currently enrolled in their certificate program for Printmaking.

I decided to expand my small basement studio and create my own open printmaking studio in Manchester NH. I hope to create an open, environmentally conscious, collaborative environment to become a creative focal point for printmakers in Southern NH.

To honor my grandfather, who was a letterpress printmaker his whole life. his inspiration and life long commitment to the art, I am naming the company and studio after him:

D.M. Penny Press LLC
